In order to ensure proper assistance, it is important to include an incident reporting form, including the policy number, name of the insured, and as much information about the loss details and involved parties as possible. An adjuster will be assigned to the claim, and after reviewing the information provided will make personal contact. Remember to include contact information such as your name, address, phone number, and email address.

A claim acknowledgement will be transmitted identifying the claim number and assigned claims adjuster.

Please note: It is our preference that claims of a serious nature are phoned into Network Adjusters as this allows us to evaluate the loss immediately.
